PROFILE

I'm a software enthusiast with a strong interest in both backend and frontend development. I've worked on projects like building a hospital management system with Laravel and MySQL, and creating marketing materials with Canva for local businesses. Over time, I've built skills in PHP, Laravel, HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and database management with MySQL/SQL, along with using GitHub for version control. For me, coding isn't just about writing functions, it's about creating something that actually solves a real problem.
